ONLINE APPLICATION, 2010-2011

Please complete all of the following sections.

Section	Status
Personal References	complete this first
Education and Training	incomplete
Experience and Skills	incomplete
Activities and Publications	incomplete
Personal Statements	incomplete
Writing Sample	incomplete
Location Preferences	incomplete
Curriculum Vitae	incomplete
Additional Comments	incomplete

Please note that you must complete and submit the Personal References section before you can begin working on any other sections!!

You may change one or more of your references at a later date, but only if the original reference has not already submitted their letter of recommendation. You are able to check on the status of references received for you by returning to look in the personal references section. Please note that it is your responsibility to ensure that all of your references have been received by the application deadline. Applications without three completed references will not be reviewed.

You may complete the rest of the application over multiple sessions by logging in with your applicant ID and password. You will be able to save your work, re-enter, revise, and continue on to other sections. Once you have completed and saved all of the above sections, the "Final Submission" link will appear on this page. Click this link after you are sure that your application is correct and complete because you will not be able to edit your application after you click the link. Your application is not official unless you click the "Final Submission" link. All applications must be submitted online by October 1, 2010 (5:00 PM EDT).

NOTE: All questions are required unless marked as "optional."

Important: We recommend that you print out the application for your records. To do this you must go to each section and select "print..." from your browser. You may do this after you have submitted your application.

Personal References

The Health & Society Scholars program requires that applicants supply the contact information below for three (3) individuals as references. As the program promotes interdisciplinary research, we strongly recommend that one of the three references be from someone outside of your academic discipline or from a place of employment. We suggest you direct your references to the Health & Society Scholars Web site for background information.

Important: Before completing this section, make sure that all the individuals listed below already have agreed to provide a reference, and that they can do so by the application deadline. You must complete all three references at the same time. If you are not ready to do so, you may come back and complete this section at a later date. However, you may not complete any other sections of your application until you have completed this section. In order to allow your references as much lead time as possible, you SHOULD complete and submit this section as soon as possible. As soon as you submit this section, the references listed below will receive an email directing them to complete a recommendation online which consists of a few questions and an open text field for them to insert the contents of their letter. Thus, it is critical that the email addresses you provide are correct and current. Applicants will not be able to view the results of the recommendation through the Online Application System, nor will they be able to request copies of the references from the program. All reference submissions must be received online by October 1, 2010 (5:00 PM EDT). If we do not receive all three references, your application will not be reviewed.

Important: Sometimes legitimate emails get deleted as spam. You should confirm with each of your references that they received an email requesting an online recommendation after you submit his/her information to us.

Please note that you will be able to change the contact information for references that have not yet been received. Changes to a contact (as identified by their email address) will cause a new request for a recommendation to be sent to the newly identified reference person. The original person listed prior to the change will also be contacted by the Health and Society Scholars program to inform them that they no longer need to complete a recommendation for you. Once a recommendation has been completed and received from a reference, you will not be able to substitute a different person for that recommendation. You may check the status of your references by returning to this page.

You may also resend a request at any time to your reference providers. This will generate a new email request to them. You should use this option when a reference provider misplaced or never received their request. To resend the request simply click on the "resend request" link that will appear next to any reference that has not yet been received.

Writing Sample

Submit a writing sample you consider to be representative of your best writing, research, and analytical abilities. The writing sample may be a chapter from a doctoral dissertation, a journal article, a paper currently under journal review, a policy brief, or a research proposal. The review committee strongly prefers a sample in which you are the single author. If that is not an option for you, co-authored documents may be submitted with the condition that you must specifically describe the roles and responsibilities you played in the production of the document. The National Program Office does not provide advice on your selection of documents. The document (including references, charts, etc.) must not exceed the equivalent of 25 double-spaced pages. (REQUIRED)

Important: We will accept only files in Microsoft Word (.doc), Portable Document Format (.pdf), or Rich Text Format (.rtf).

Please try to limit the size of the file to 2MBs or less.

To complete the submission, follow the two steps below.

Step 1. Locate your writing sample on your computer.

Locate the file on your hard drive or other electronic media.

 TIP: Save, copy or move the file to a familiar location (e.g., Desktop, My Documents).

Step 2. Upload writing sample.

To upload your document to the Health & Society Scholars Online Application System. Select the [Browse...] button below to navigate to the document that you located in Step 1. Alternatively, on a PC (but not a Mac), you may type the full path to the document into the text box (e.g. c:/temp/mycv.doc). Hit submit to upload your document.

Location Preferences

1. Location preferences: Please indicate your preferences regarding interviewing at each of the participating universities using the dropdown menu choices of "interested" or "ineligible or not interested." Finalists will be offered interviews at up to a maximum of 3 sites. Decisions as to where a finalist will interview will take into account the applicant's preferences, the sites' preferred candidates, and the recommendations of our National Advisory Committee. With regards to eligibility for a particular site, Scholars in general will not be placed at sites where they have worked or received training in the past two years. However, if you feel that the research and training opportunities at a particular site where you are currently located (or have been within the past two years) are so unique to your career development in population health that they could not be matched by any other site, please indicate your reasons in the "additional comments" box. (REQUIRED)

Columbia University		no
Harvard University		no
UCSF & UC Berkeley		no
University of Michigan		no
University of Pennsylvania		no
University of Wisconsin		no

Curriculum Vitae

It is optional to also submit your curriculum vitae in addition to completing this application form. However, please note that you can only be certain that reviewers will consider information in their review of your application if you entered it in the appropriate sections of the application form. If you do not choose to additionally submit your CV, check the box at the bottom of the page indicating that you elected not to submit a CV. This is necessary in order for all sections of the application to be considered complete when you come to the final submit step. Please make sure that you fill out all relevant entries in all sections of the application even if the information is contained in your CV.

Important: We will accept only files in Microsoft Word (.doc), Portable Document Format (.pdf), or Rich Text Format (.rtf). Please try to limit the size of the file to 2MBs or less.

Step 1. Locate your CV on your computer.

Locate the file on your hard drive or other electronic media.
